Summer 2026 Housing Contract Terms and Conditions

The purpose of this document is to establish a mutual contract between each housing student and the Florida State University Board of Trustees, a public body corporate of the State of Florida, acting for and on behalf of Florida State University and its University Housing, with regard to living in University Housing Facilities.

I. TERMS AND CONDITIONS

- A. Residents of University Housing facilities must be degree-seeking students registered for classes at Florida State University for each semester or session of occupancy. Any exceptions must be granted on an individual basis and based on documented academic circumstances. Students wishing to cancel this contract due to non-enrollment will be responsible for financial charges as outlined in Section III below.
- B. This contract is not a lease and is not governed by the Florida Residential Landlord Tenant Act. University Housing is located on land owned by the State of Florida.
- C. The student acknowledges that the University does not require any student to submit a housing contract. This contract, whether submitted electronically or in paper form, with required advance payment, is effective from the University's receipt of the contract until the end of the selected summer session. If the student enrolls or re-enrolls at the University after providing notice that the student will not be attending for a specific semester or session, the contract obligation may be reinstated for the remainder of the contract period, at the sole discretion of the University. The student must vacate the residence hall within 24 hours of withdrawal, release, or termination of the contract during a given semester or session. To properly vacate the space, the student must remove all personal belongings, have staff inspect the room, and return the key at the conclusion of the room inspection. The student must leave the space in a clean and orderly condition, which includes the removal of all trash. The date noted in staff records at the conclusion of the room inspection is used to indicate the official check-out date. The student is responsible for scheduling and attending the room inspection appointment.
- D. The completion of this contract by the student assists in establishing priority for housing. The University's receipt of this contract does not guarantee a bed space, assignment to a particular type of space (building or room type), nor does it determine final admission to the University. The department may cancel the contract if a space is not available for assignment to the student. Priority for assignments will be granted according to the following hierarchy, provided all admissions and orientation deadlines are met:
 1. The date and time of contract submission is used to establish priority for receiving on-campus housing and assignment to preferred room types. Assignment to an apartment style space for the previous Spring or subsequent Fall term, dependent upon the contracted summer term/session, may also be considered when making an assignment.
- E. Semester room rent covers occupancy from the date and time designated for official opening until the date and time designated for official closing of the residence halls for each semester or session. Residence hall closings will follow the last scheduled examination for each semester or session.
 1. Official residence hall opening and closing dates will be published on the University Housing website. The student agrees to access this information and strictly abide by it.
- F. Room rent does not cover occupancy during any vacation period or between semesters/sessions (including winter and spring breaks). Based on space available, University Housing may provide housing during break periods in specific buildings on a limited, centralized basis and for an additional charge.
 1. Apartment-style halls are open during vacation periods for students who will continue to be assigned in the same space for both terms. Suite-style halls are closed during vacation periods.

- G. Under this contract, the student is entitled to the privacy of his or her assigned room, (except as stated in II G or as otherwise provided by law), the use of public facilities of the residence hall, and the services rendered in order to pursue his/her educational goals.
- H. The University provides housing accommodations for students with a documented qualifying medical, physical or psychological disability. To be considered for a housing accommodation due to a disability or disabling condition, students must make a request through the Office of Accessibility Services (OAS), and follow the deadlines and instructions for submitting documentation on the OAS website. Students who receive an OAS recommendation for a housing accommodation after the priority deadline will be prioritized for the next available space meeting that accommodation, but University Housing cannot provide a guarantee of availability. Once accommodations are approved, they remain on file with University Housing for the duration of the student's residence on-campus.

1. The entire housing accommodation process must be completed with the Office of Accessibility Services before the priority deadlines listed below. After these dates, students may apply for accommodations, but FSU cannot guarantee a housing accommodation can be met. Accommodation requests are subject to room availability. Students must have and maintain a valid housing contract with University Housing in order to receive an approved housing accommodation.

- A. Summer A/C: April 1
- B. Summer B: May 1
- C. Fall (returning residents who lived in University Housing during the Spring 2026 term) – December 1 of preceding year
- D. Fall (new residents) – May 1
- E. Spring: November 1 of preceding year

2. Emotional Support Animal (ESA) requests are reviewed through OAS. All OAS deadlines for accommodations apply to ESA requests. Requests made and approved before residence hall opening may be approved to begin at the start of that term. Requests made after residence hall opening may be reviewed to begin at the start of the next term for which the student is contracted to live on campus.

II. CONDITIONS AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF RESIDENTS

- A. Students may reside only in the rooms to which they are assigned, and students may not sublet rooms to another person. Room transfers may occur only upon written approval from the University Housing office or the building's hall coordinator. A guest may not stay in University Housing facilities for more than three (3) days during a 30-day period.
- B. Students are responsible for care of rooms and equipment. The University performs routine, periodic and preventative maintenance and custodial services. The University may also provide periodic suite bathroom cleaning, subject to staff availability and other conditions. Charges may be made for damages to, unauthorized use of, or alterations to, rooms, equipment or buildings, as well as for special cleaning necessitated by improper care of rooms or equipment. Students are jointly responsible for care of public areas and equipment. "Public areas" are defined as those areas available for use by all students living on a wing, a floor or within a hall. Charges for damages to public areas and equipment may be made to all students assigned to separate wings, floors or within entire halls as deemed appropriate by University Housing.
- C. Students are responsible for knowing and following University regulations and procedures as set forth in official University publications including the Student Conduct Code and the Guide to Residence Living. The University reserves the right to make other rules and regulations that in its judgment may be necessary for the safety, care and cleanliness of the premises and for the preservation of order. The student agrees to abide by all additional rules and regulations that are adopted.
- D. The University is not liable for damage or loss of personal property, failure or interruption of utilities, or unforeseen accidents/injuries. Students are strongly encouraged to secure their own personal property loss insurance.
- E. Resident acknowledges that all main campus housing facilities are located in Florida, which has a climate conducive to the growth of mold and mildew, and that it is necessary to provide proper ventilation and humidification of rooms to prevent the growth of mold and mildew. Resident agrees to be responsible for properly ventilating and dehumidifying the room and the contents to prevent mold and mildew, and that the University shall not be responsible for damage to the room or the personal property of the resident for damages caused by mold and mildew. Residents are responsible for knowing and following recommended procedures as set forth in the Guide to Residence Living related to mildew and mold prevention and removal.
- F. Due to the communal nature of residence hall living, University Housing cannot guarantee that any housing space will be free of nuts, gluten, fragrances or other allergens and cannot prevent cross contamination within rooms or common spaces.
- G. Authorized University personnel may enter student rooms for normal inspection, and maintenance and custodial purposes as outlined. The student's personal property is not subject to search without express approval of the student except when a reasonable belief exists that the room is being used for a purpose which is illegal or which would otherwise seriously interfere with discipline and/or personal safety.
- H. Room assignments may at any time be administratively changed, modified, canceled or terminated by the University in the interests of order, health, discipline, maximum utilization of facilities or disaster after notice to the student as is practical. Disregard for the rights, responsibilities and duties of others, as well as the creation of circumstances which could jeopardize life, limb, or property, are conditions which are not acceptable in University Housing and may be cause for administrative termination of the Housing Contract.
 - 1. The University reserves the right to change room or hall assignments and/or consolidate vacancies by requiring residents to move from one room to another in the event such reassignments are determined to be necessary. If consolidation is required once the term has begun, University Housing will provide advance notice of a required move as is practical.
 - 2. The University reserves the right to assign a new resident to a vacancy that may occur in the residence halls at any time. No prior notice of a new roommate to the residents sharing that residence hall space is required. The student(s) who remain in a room or apartment with a vacancy agrees to maintain the vacant space in move-in condition as determined by the University in anticipation of the arrival of a new roommate. A fully open space, which includes but is not limited to a bed, desk, dresser, desk chair, and appropriate shared space, must remain clear of any belongings. There is no right on the part of the remaining residents to refuse to accept a new roommate. Any behavior or conduct which, as determined by FSU Housing, in its sole discretion, is intended to cause a roommate to move out or prevent one from moving in is a violation of the contract and is grounds for conduct action pursuant to the Student Conduct Code and Guide to Residence Living.
 - 3. Room change process- All room change requests must be submitted, and are processed, according to published timelines and processes, and pending space availability. If a reassignment is offered, no information about any existing student in a space can be provided for privacy reasons. If the request is motivated by personal differences or conflict with a roommate, the student is responsible to make a good faith effort to resolve the differences before making a request for a room change. The residence life staff is available to assist with conflict resolution and mediation.
 - 4. FSU is subject to extreme weather events or other emergencies. FSU Housing retains the right to close Housing facilities due to causes beyond its control, including but not limited to, weather emergencies. In the event a residence hall is evacuated and closed due to extreme weather or other emergency, the student may need to shelter elsewhere on-campus or off campus and may be displaced for an extended period of time. The student will not be permitted to re-enter housing until the extreme weather or other emergency has passed and the facilities are deemed safe to open. If a student refuses to leave their room or residence hall when a residence hall is evacuated or closed, the student may be deemed liable for trespass. The re-opening of residence halls may or may not coincide with the re-opening of campus.
- I. Students may not possess dangerous or prohibited items as noted in the Guide to Residence Living, the Student Conduct Code, as well as by Florida Law.
- J. Visitation shall be in accordance with Florida State University policy.
- K. In keeping with the policies of the University, all rooms are assigned without regard to race, creed, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, veterans' or marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, or any other protected group status. Roommate assignment requests based on romantic involvement with the potential roommate will not be considered. University Housing makes the following provisions with regards to room assignments: accommodations are made for students with disabilities, and married couples are not permitted to live together in University Housing facilities.

- L. In support of the mission of University Housing, the intended use of the residence hall space is for the students assigned to sleep, study and foster their academic success. Residence halls are not designed or intended to be appropriate spaces for businesses, and do not provide an environment conducive to remote work or online presence. The rights of a resident using the space for residential purposes cannot be superseded by one wishing to use the space for work/remote work. Students may not cause interference with another student's rights, comfort and safety while they are in the room or residence hall. Solicitation is not permitted in the residence halls.
- M. All official communication is sent to the student's FSU email account. The student agrees to be responsible for all communication received from the University sent to this account. Housing may share the student's FSU email address with assigned roommates prior to the start of the contracted summer term within the housing portal so contact can be made before move-in.
- N. Animals are prohibited in all residence hall facilities, with the exception of approved emotional support animals, service animals, and fish kept as pets in a 10-gallon or smaller aquarium. Prior to any animal living in the building, the student is responsible for completing all steps required for approval.

V. PUBLIC HEALTH POLICIES

A. CONGREGATE HOUSING:

Florida State University holds as paramount the health, safety and welfare of every member of its community. Simply due to the dense populations in the residence halls, living on campus could elevate the risk of contracting any contagious illness. Every member of our community, including students, must do their part to minimize exposure. This means adhering to national, state, local health guidelines and requirements, and all measures Florida State University deems safe and appropriate for its campus.

B. HEALTH AND SAFETY:

We expect that all members of the FSU Housing community—residents, staff and visitors—act in a manner that demonstrates respect and consideration for those around them, including respect and consideration for the health and safety of all community members. All residential students are prohibited from creating a health or safety hazard within FSU University Housing and FSU may request or require a resident to leave FSU Housing if their continued presence in the housing community poses a health or safety risk for community members. Residential students are required to comply with health and safety laws, orders, ordinances, regulations and health and safety guidance adopted by FSU or FSU Housing as it relates to public health crises. Adherence to health and safety requirements applies to all residents, staff and visitors and extends to all aspects of housing, including bedrooms, bathrooms, community kitchens, lounges, computer rooms, courtyards and other common spaces. You agree to do all of this not just for yourself, but for the safety of others, and because this is consistent with the spirit of FSU.

Additional terms, conditions and responsibilities for the Summer 2026 FSU Housing Contract:

- Student acknowledges the inherent elevated risk associated with living in a community environment and the student's shared obligation to prioritize health and safety for the benefit of the entire campus community.
- Student acknowledges that they have considered their own personal health status and any increased risk factors when deciding to choose to live on campus.
- Student acknowledges the building or room assignment may be changed prior to arrival or at any time during the term of the Contract as is deemed necessary for the health and welfare of residents.
- Student acknowledges that cleaning and sanitizing the room, bath and other areas in the unit is the responsibility of the residents living in the suite / apartment. The students will be responsible for providing their own cleaning product and tools to maintain a clean environment within the unit.
- FSU and FSU University Housing reserve the right to terminate housing contracts due to public health emergency needs.
- In the event that the University closes the student's residence hall due to causes beyond the University's reasonable control, including but not limited to epidemics, pandemics, war, embargoes, fire, earthquakes, acts of God, actions or inactions of governmental or university authorities, forced closure of facilities, hurricanes, and other serious weather events, such action shall not be considered a default, delay or failure to perform by Florida State University and the student shall not be entitled to a contract cancellation, release, or any refund of any housing fees or payment or any other contract damages.

In the event of a conflict between this Public Health Policies section and the previous sections of the Summer 2026 Housing Contract, this section will prevail.

VI. EXECUTION

By submitting this contract, the student and parent/legal guardian (if student is under 18 years of age) hereby contract for a space in University Housing for the selected summer term and agree to pay rental rates established by the University. It is the student's responsibility to review their housing needs and financial resources before completing this contract.
